

Health Screening Clinics

Employee health issues can result in absenteeism, reduced productivity and increased health benefits costs — which are expected to increase at double-digit rates for the next five to ten years.<sup>1</sup> Many of the most costly health conditions are preventable if health risks are identified early on.

Get ahead of your health costs by investing in early detection.

Employee health is a key long term asset. By promoting health, your organization can reduce downstream drug and benefits costs and improve productivity. In addition, studies show that employers who demonstrate commitment to employee health also engage and retain top talent.<sup>1, 2</sup>

Shepell•fgi's Health Screening Clinics are a convenient and cost-effective way to promote employee health by encouraging early identification of health risks related to chronic illnesses such as hypertension, diabetes, heart diseases, and so on.

With our Health Screening Clinics, a registered nurse will measure biometric health risk factors (e.g., blood pressure, cholesterol, glucose, etc.) and provide valuable one-on-one consultation to review the results. Employees will leave the clinic with an improved understanding of their current state of health — and with knowledge comes empowerment.

Employees who are aware of their health risks are more likely to make healthier lifestyle choices. Our clinics therefore present an ideal opportunity to encourage the use of your existing health and wellness initiatives — maximizing the effectiveness of available resources and your return on investment.

To schedule a Health Screening Clinic Shepell•fgi requires 8 weeks advance notice. This will ensure that there is adequate time to promote the clinic, register participants (on-line option available), and ensure that all the logistics for the team (Nurse and Administration) are finalized.
